

Express themselves freely on a topic whilst bonding with other participants.

Preparation

- Insert the "Brainstorming (world cafe)" collaborative note template in the main table of your Glowbl space and prepare it with the chosen topic for the world cafe.
- Identify the number of sub-tables needed to accommodate all participants and insert a new collaborative note in each of them. Prepare these notes with a different topic-related question each time.
- Customize the tables in your Glowbl space with the "World cafe" layout templates of your choice.
- Find the "Brainstorming (world cafe)" template in the library and modify it if necessary.

Flow

Subgroups mode

- Opening
  - Broadcast the sequence.
  - Welcome participants around the main table and start the sequence.
  - Introduce the topic, the method and explain the world cafe's goal to participants.
  - Choose the table hosts, or let participants choose them at the end of the first round.
- Rotations
  - Ask participants to join different sub-tables for the first round. They must be 4-5 per table. Tell them to take notes on the collaborative note inserted in their table below the question, to keep track of their exchanges.
  - When participants have split up, launch the activity by broadcasting an announcement.
  - At the end of the first round, send an announcement asking participants (except the host) to make the first rotation. Repeat the action after each round.

Broadcast mode

- Synthesis: Ask the hosts of each table to summarize the discussions that took place during the rounds.
- Debrief: Ask participants to reflect before ending the session.

Reuse

- In a training context, to enable learners to deepen their learning according to their needs: let them choose the topic.
  - In a training context, to verify knowledge (peer-to-peer learning).
- In both cases, suggest that guests change tables once.
